Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-50, 74 and 77-85, drawn to a disposable tumbler exhibiting biaxial toughness, formed from a polymeric material, classified in class 428, subclass 36.91.
 - II. Claims 51-60, 69-73 and 75-76, drawn to a method of forming a polycarbonate permaware container, classified in class 264, subclass 177.2.
 - III. Claims 61-68, drawn to a hollow polycarbonate permaware container, classified in class 428, subclass 34.1.
2. Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different functions; invention I is drawn to a disposable tumbler exhibiting biaxial toughness, whereas invention II is drawn to a method of making a container.
3. Inventions III and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because a hollow container is not required specifically to be a tumbler. The subcombination has separate utility such as a tumbler which exhibits biaxial toughness, but does not comprise polycarbonate permaware.

4. Inventions II and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made by a different method, such as one in which the parison is not moved on the core in a substantially arcuate path into axial alignment with a blow mold.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons described above, and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized different classification and subject matter, and because the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. A telephone call was made to Mr. Michael Ferrell on September 20, 2001 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
